

NOVAD Management Consulting CEO Receives Washington Business Journal Minority Business Leader Award

Award Recipient Attributes 10-fold Revenue Increase within Three Years to Sound Values and Servant Leadership

LANDOVER, MD, March 24, 2010 – NOVAD Management Consulting, LLC today announced that E. Davon Kelly, NOVAD Management Consulting Chief Executive Officer, has been awarded the Washington Business Journal's 2010 Minority Business Leader Award for outstanding performance. Mr. Kelly will be profiled in the April 30, 2010, edition of the Washington Business Journal and honored at Minority Business Leader Awards program in Washington, DC.

Davon Kelly started NOVAD Management Consulting in 2003 after a distinguished career in the accounting and consulting industry. Over the last three years, he has led NOVAD to a ten-fold growth in revenue. Kelly attributes the growth of his company to sound values and servant leadership, “My vision for NOVAD is to provide more than just quick fixes, short-term answers and one-off solutions. Instead we cultivate long-term relationships and a seamless flow of work and ideas between NOVAD and our clients. We treat each customer as if they were our only customer.”

NOVAD provides constructive solutions to maximize profitability and efficiency by bringing a wealth of knowledge to important strategic decisions. NOVAD consultants have expertise in fields of project management; accounting and auditing; strategic planning; business process re-engineering; financial advisory services; asset and property management; IT support; and training in interpersonal and coaching skills.

Davon Kelly extends his corporate values of collaboration, best practices and high performance to his community where he has coached high school boys’ basketball for more than 10 years. He takes this opportunity to focus youth on team building, leadership, attitude, and academics. In addition, Kelly mentors other small businesses by sharing lessons he’s learned, and offering strategic insights and investment for start-up firms.

About NOVAD

NOVAD is a full service minority-owned management consulting firm. NOVAD’s reputation for excellence in consulting services has been earned as a result of their ability to mesh seamlessly with a client’s organization and provide a carefully calibrated approach to realistic problem-solving.

NOVAD clients include federal and state government agencies, as well as corporations and nonprofit organizations. For more information, visit: www.novadconsulting.com.